3-23-2007 – Triple Murders – 292 Burgess Street, St Paul

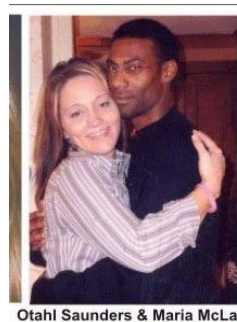

On March 23rd, 2007, Otahl Sanders, Maria McLay, and Brittany Kekedakis were murdered in their home at 292 Burgess Street, St Paul. These murders were precipitated by a home invasion robbery during the early morning hours of March 23rd. The investigation developed suspects, but has not yet yielded enough evidence for prosecution. Investigators believe that the most violent suspects are currently incarcerated for unrelated crimes and are expected to be in jail for many years.

The investigators hope that the fact that these violent offenders are locked up for many years will give people the courage to come forward with information they have that could help solve this case. Family members of the victims also look for your support to bring the perpetrators of this horrible crime to justice.

A $15,000 reward in this case is also available for information leading to the arrest and charging of perpetrators of these crimes. This is in addition to the Crime Stoppers of Minnesota pledge of paying up to $1,000 reward. The additional amount was donated by other sources.
